SUNDAY, APRIL 11, 1880. THE TROUBLE AT YALE COL-

In college circles there is some excitement just now over the conflict in Yale College between President Porter and Professor Sumner. The orthodox, and the entire faculty of Sumner. President Porter has requested him to discontinue its use, but he declines, and the whole matter will come up before the board of trustees, composed of nineteen members, eleven of whom are Congregational ministers. Among remaining eight are such distinguished laymen as Secretary Evarts, Judge Taft, Gov. cial, are authorized to represent the Andrews, of Connecticut, ex-Governor Washburn, of Massachusetts, and ex-Congressman William Walter Phelps.

It is understood that if the trustees endorse the views of President Porter, Prof. Summer will resign.
He is one of the most distinguished men of the faculty, and enjoys a national reputation. He was once ordained as an Episcopal minister, but he has forsaken that calling entirely, we believe. At least, he is known only for his high attainments in the field of science. It is not likely that this leading college will be put in a position of hostility to the views of Christian people. It is hardly possible that the thousands of young men who are educated there, will be taught that death is a leap in the dark," for the institution has been endowed largely by contributions from men who believed in old-fashioned Christianity, and who intended that it should be a Christian institution. Even the entire faculty coincided with Prof. Sumner in the course he has taken, it would be an act of grossly bad faith towards those who have contributed to the liberal endowment of the college, to use their money to teach young men that their Christian fathers were weak idiots. There are still some men of education; men who have delved deep in the mysteries of science; men who rank high in the field of literature, who have not given up the dea that there is some truth in revelation. and who believe that the Christian next, to nominate a candidate for gov fashion for some scientific men, who know nothing of religion. to specific and also to specif at Christianity as something for women and children and weakminded men, who never read any-

WE adhere to our views expressed some time ago, that the Tennessee delegation to Chicago should go uninstructed. If we are going to select twenty-four gentlemen from the republican ranks in the state and send them to Chicago marked "C. O. D," it makes very little difference who is selected. But we should much prefer to see delegates selected with sole reference to their intelligence, sense of justice and good judgment, and leave them without special instructions. Let them go there and confer with delegates from other states, with an earnest purpose to ascertain who is the best and most available man for the nomination. If it is Grant, vote for him, if Blaine, for him, if Sherman, for him, if Washburne or Edmunds, why then for them. If they go there with their hands tied by instructions, they will be mere figure-heads, receiving atten-gardless of circumstances. The object of a convention of any sort is for men to meet and confer together on public questions. A together on public questions, A national political convention should be made up of men who have at heart the interests of the party they represent, and not the blind cham.
